The Problem Statement -- Nostalgia

-Everyone wants to play the games they used to love as a child! But unfortunately not every amazing childhood game can be found online, and if they can be found most of them are not as amazing as we may remember

The Problem Statement -- Continued

-Others that have tried to create this game did not have what Team Rocket posses. We have comprehensive experiences, from cmpsci 125 to 230, and programming in 121, 187 and 220, in addition to those currently in other higher level programming courses

The Problem Statement -- Finale

-In addition to our amazing computer science backgrounds we also have members that have taken art, philosophy, and economic classes!

-Thanks to these amazing backgrounds we at Team Rocket have all of the essential tools and more to create an amazing "Guess Who?" web application!
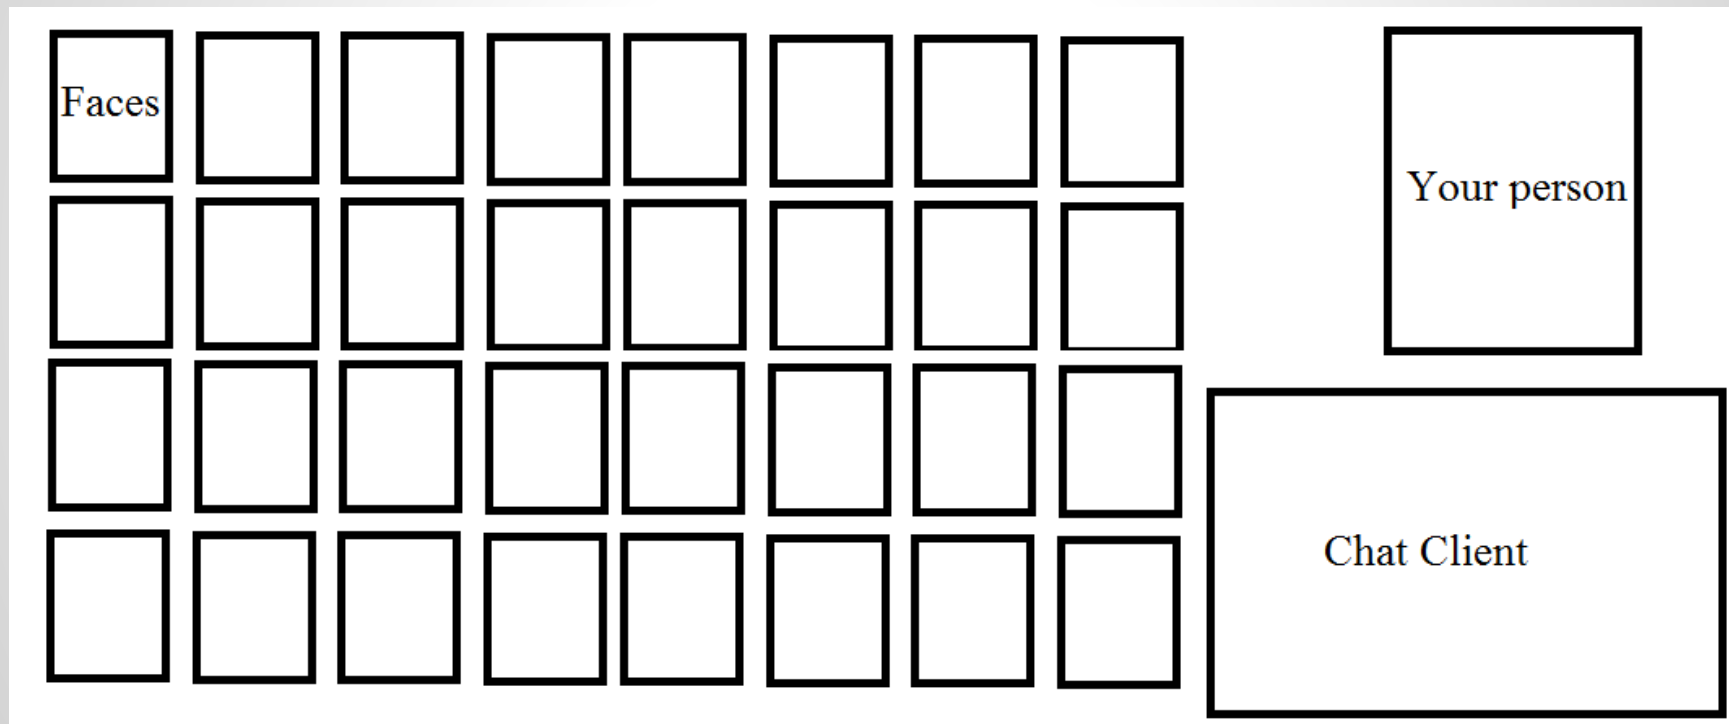

The Product

Guess Who? the web application!

    -Just like your favorite "Guess Who" game only playable in your web browser!

    -Unlike other websites ours will generate you a humorous username and password so you dont have to do any work!

The Product -- Continued

-- You will be automatically placed into a queue to reduce wait times!

-- Your character will show up on the right hand side of the screen

-- Players will take turns asking yes or no questions

-- based off of answers players must manually eliminate icons
